

Nuts & Bolts of Teaching

Sessions are open to all, however they are aimed primarily for new and emerging faculty.

Facilitated by Judy Ableser, CETL Director

Register at oakland.edu/cetl/faculty-development/workshops

200A Elliott Hall | 12:00-1:30 p.m. | Lunch provided.

Learning Outcomes and Constructive Alignment

Tuesday, September 19

- Write effective learning outcomes
- Determine if our students have learned what we want them to
- Identify keys to effective course design, implementation and assessment are
- Connect learning outcomes to assessment

Authentic Assessment and Rubrics

Tuesday, September 26

- Create activities that apply content into real life situations
- Move beyond multiple choice tests
- Assess assignments objectively and efficiently
- Understand how rubrics help us and students

Active Learning Strategies

Tuesday, October 3

- Understand the research behind “active learning” and why it is important for today’s students
- Identify and practice a range of active learning techniques that you can easily implement into your own classroom

Effective Lesson Planning

Tuesday, October 10

- Structure a class session to engage and facilitate learning
- Organize, time-manage, and plan class structure
- Define learning outcomes for each session to help students and instructors
- Balance mini-lectures with active learning

Creating an Effective Syllabus

Tuesday, December 5

- Implement best practices for syllabus design
- Begin planning for your winter semester