Economic Analyst

State of Michigan | Labor Market Information and Strategic Initiatives

Chris Holman is an Economic Analyst at the State of Michigan's Bureau of Labor Market Information and Strategic Initiatives. The team he is a part of is responsible for collecting occupational employment and wage information across Michigan. His responsibilities include assisting in data collection and ensuring accurate coding for entry into the Bureau of Labor Statistics information system. Chris is a graduate of Oakland University where he earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Economics.

Before enrolling at Oakland University, Chris spent 11-years serving in the U.S. Army. During this time, he held several different positions where he held roles in leadership, communications, and airborne operations. Throughout his career, Chris has focused on public service, including roles in the Armed Forces, fire department, and law enforcement. While working for Washtenaw County, Chris was awarded a Meritorious Service Award for his actions while serving the public. Currently, he has decided to focus on the labor market conditions within the State of Michigan.

While at Oakland University, Chris was involved in the Economics Student Association and the Student Philanthropy Committee. He is a member of the National Association for Business Economics and is also a member of the Advisory Board for the Oakland University Economics Department.
