

Faculty Feedback Oakland University's Student Persistence System

Replacing MID-SEMESTER EVALUATIONS AND EARLY ALERT

Mid-semester evaluations (MSEs) provided a uniform measure to reporting students who were underperforming, but it offered only news of under-performance (U) rather than what is causing the unsatisfactory performance and what can be done. While the Early Alert provided more feedback for students and advisers, the Faculty Feedback system allows for early and mid-semester feedback. Like MSEs, these are required for all 00X, 1000 and 2000-level classes and is best utilized within the first six weeks of a semester, when a student has enough time to course correct.

Easy to Access through SAIL (sail.oakland.edu)

The Faculty Feedback system is in the same location as mid-semester evaluations.

Welcome, Darrin M. Hanna, to the OAKLAND UNIVERSITY SAIL Information System!
