

LOCK HAVEN UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA

(Pennsylvania)

Master of Liberal Arts (MLA)

Program Path:

IDS Type: Departmentally Restricted IDS

Program Type: Foundational IDS Program

Description: The Master of Liberal Arts program is designed for adults who wish to study the liberal arts in depth. Its focus is on the development of intellectual skills that dispel illusion and foster the unimpeded activity of our most fully human powers of thought and action. The topics studied are chosen for their ability to illuminate the perennial concerns of human life, challenge the conventional assumptions of the current age, and, above all, communicate the delight of discovery and strength of understanding. The program will enhance a student's ability to analyze, synthesize and appreciate a broad spectrum of knowledge drawn from a variety of disciplines. The MLA program is designed for any adult with a bachelor's degree wishing to study the liberal arts in greater depth, for professionals seeking to expand their educational horizons, or for teachers wanted to experience academic learning from a liberal arts perspective. Because a certain amount of flexibility distinguishes this program from traditional master's degrees, courses have been designed with the adult learner in mind. (From website.)

Program Structure:

Admission Requirements: Application, Official Undergraduate Transcripts, Statement of Intent

Credit Hours: 30 credits

Required Coursework: 9 credits, 3 credit Core seminar, 6 credits of Liberal Arts seminars

Individually Selected Coursework: 15 credits, Five Electives

Exit Courses & Work: 6 credits, Capstone Project (2 research courses)

Established Department(s) of Focus: Arts, humanities, sciences, and education

Program Statistics:

Faculty: No IDS specific faculty information available

Students: Resident students only; courses designed with the adult learner in mind

Program History: No information available

Contact Information:

Address: Graduate Programs, Office of Admissions, Lock Haven University of Pennsylvania, Lock Haven, PA 17745

Phone Numbers: (inside PA) 1-800-332-8900 or (outside PA) 1-800-233-8978

Email: gradadmissions@lhup.edu