

Monday, September 16, 2024

To the campus community

Oakland University makes consumer information available to current and prospective employees and students in accordance with the Higher Education Opportunity Act (“HEOA”) and the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (“FERPA”). The University’s consumer information can be accessed at the following web address:

<https://www.oakland.edu/consumer-information/>

The University’s consumer information website provides general information about the University as well as information about student financial assistance, health and safety, and student outcomes. Please consult the University’s consumer information website for a more detailed list and description of the information available.

The University will provide paper copies of its consumer information upon request. If you would like a paper copy or need assistance to access the University’s consumer information website, please contact the Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships via telephone at (248) 370-2550 or via email at finaid@oakland.edu.